

This is our home. Our skyscrapers are Ben Lomond Peak, Mt. Ogden and Strawberry Peak. You probably won't see a lot of celebrities, but you'll see plenty of stars. You'll find good eats, a place to sleep and a huge playground. Whether you're enjoying the serenity of our mountains or the eclectic vibe of notoriously charming Historic 25th Street, we hope you feel welcome in our home.

GENUINE ADVENTURE

Don't come to Ogden expecting a typical mountain town.

This is the place that Al Capone said was too wild for his taste in the 1920s. And while we've replaced bootlegging, prostitution and gambling with skiing, climbing, kayaking and mountain biking, Ogden's soul will always be a bit rowdy.

If you want homogenized, we're probably not for you. But if you're rolling around the western United States with a rack full of skis, snowboards, bikes, kayaks, climbing gear and an appetite for life, welcome to one of the funkier places you've never been.

UNION STATION

Unlike most community tourist brochures, this guidebook doesn't list every place with a parking lot. You'll notice an absence of ads within these pages. Local mountain athletes worked to assemble information that would be relevant to visitors and present it as accurately as possible. The following pages list the places we play, where we hang out when we're not playing and locales we would personally vouch for. Any mistakes are ours. Feel free to point them out if you want. We're the people you'll see on mountain bikes, in kayaks, on skis or barstools around town.

Welcome to Ogden.

HOW WE GOT HERE

From about 400 - 1350 A.D., this area was home to the Great Salt Lake Fremont Indians. Following the Fremont culture, the Northern Shoshone and Goshute tribes inhabited the area. The first permanent settlement by people of European descent in the region that is now Utah was here and originally named Fort Buenaventura. Mormon settlers bought the fort for $1,950 in 1847. Shortly afterward, the transcontinental railroad met up here and began pretty much everything you see here today.

WHY WE STAY HERE

- Eleven national parks are less than a day's drive from Ogden.
- Three major ski resorts within 25 minutes, and additional seven within one hour, three cross-country ski areas and the nation's only recreational ski jumping complex are less than an hour's drive from downtown Ogden.
- Over 210 miles of U.S. Forest Service maintained mountain biking, hiking and equestrian trails and over 20 federally maintained campgrounds.
- Within the area, there are over 13,000 acres of fresh water for both motorized and non-motorized water sports.
- Ogden is adjacent to 170,000 acres of National Forest.

HOW YOU GET HERE

Ogden is located about 35 miles north of Salt Lake International Airport on Interstate 15. The airport is a hub for Delta Airlines with non-stop service from Salt Lake to 90 major cities with more than 500 daily flights.

The Ogden area is easily accessed from any of the freeway exits between 341 and 354. It's also accessible via Utah's busiest municipal airport — the Ogden-Hinckley Airport — located just southwest of the city.

USEFUL/USELESS OGDEN FACTS

- Area population: 197,000 (approx.)
- Settled: 1846 by Miles Goodyear
- Elevation: 4,280 feet
- Highest peak: Ben Lomond 9,712 feet
- Average yearly snowfall: 65.3 inches
- Average resort yearly snowfall: 450 inches
- Average yearly rainfall: 18.9 inches
- 45+ films/TV shot in Ogden area
- Ogden was home to three venues during the 2002 Olympic Winter Games.
- Weber County Library was one of the first public libraries in the nation to successfully automate its card catalog with a full bibliographic record.
- Hudson Bay Co. fur trapper Peter Skeen Ogden, who the town is named after, never actually made it to Ogden.
- Nolan Bushnell, inventor of the Pong video game and founder of Atari, Inc. was born in Ogden.

SHUT UP ALREADY!

Safe to say, one of the reasons you requested this guidebook in the first place was that you've seen all the recent ink in various ski magazines regarding Ogden-area skiing. Fine. Welcome. Enjoy. Just keep it to yourself.

There's plenty to go around, but most locals are still coming to terms with seeing their favorite stashes splashed across magazine pages as ski meccas.

The world got a glimpse of the area during the 2002 Olympic Winter Games when Snowbasin hosted the downhill, combined and super-G events. What the world didn't see was all the off-piste and powder shots that abound in the area.

If that's your thing, hit the upper bowls at Snowbasin Resort or the powder country of Powder Mountain. If groomers are more your speed, both resorts offer plenty. If you're just needing to get your ski legs on or get a newbie up to speed, hit Wolf Mountain.

SKI SHUTTLE

Ogden offers a shuttle service from downtown hotels and from the Valley condos to all three local resorts. For details on schedules and routes, visit www.visitogden.com or ask at the front desk of your local hotel.

how to...

how to...

START IT UP

Grab your morning java at Grounds for Coffee. If you already have your gear, hit the downtown location on Historic 25th Street (it's probably closest to your hotel). If you're renting equipment, the Grounds on Harrison Blvd. is a stone's throw from Alpine Sports.

KEEP IT GOING

If you're skiing Snowbasin, your sustenance is assured. Each lodge features a different themed cuisine prepared by chefs who've been trained around the world.

WIND IT DOWN

Union Grill in Historic Union Station (kind of hard to miss the huge building located at the west end of Historic 25th Street with the giant red neon sign that reads, "Union Station"), has unique menu offerings in proportions that will satisfy your empty belly after a long day on the mountain. If you're still up for more, stroll up the street to The City Club for drinks and check out one of the greatest collections of rock 'n' roll memorabilia anywhere...all in a setting that puts Hard Rock Cafe to shame.

SNOWBASIN RESORT

Skiing Magazine's rankings of resorts put Snowbasin, a Sun Valley Resort, in its top ten while SKI Magazine's readers' survey consistently rank it in the top five for service, on-mountain food and lifts. Nearly 3,000 vertical feet on over 2,800 acres of varied terrain serviced by 12 lifts including two high-speed gondolas providing a capacity of 14,500 skiers per hour: 7% novice, 29% intermediate, 34% expert and 30% expert only. The resort features a superpipe, three terrain parks and a tubing hill. Once you've skied the Needles Express Gondola, head over to the Strawberry Gondola or the John Paul Quad to experience skiing on the edge. Make sure you take time for lunch at any of the three lodges.

Snowbasin, John Paul Lodge

POWDER MOUNTAIN

Readers of SKI Magazine continually rank Powder Mountain in the top five for snow and also for value. Located just 19 miles northeast of Ogden, Powder Mountain, at 7,000 acres, boasts more acreage than any resort in the United States. With 2,200 feet of vertical terrain serviced by 7 lifts and snowcats: 25% novice, 40% intermediate and 35% expert. Complete with two terrain parks. For an adventure, explore the untouched snow in the 1,200 acres of Powder Country and catch the shuttle back to the lifts. Well-lit night conditions will keep you on the mountain well after dark. Powder Mountain also features abundant terrain and instruction for the rapidly growing new sport of snowkiting.

WOLF MOUNTAIN

Wolf Mountain is arguably the best learning mountain in the western United States. It's located approximately 20 minutes from downtown Ogden. Four lifts service 1,000 vertical feet of primarily novice and intermediate terrain with some nice, steep faces. The Wolf's Lair terrain park includes 20 features with boxes, rails and some good size jumps. Their Magic Carpet provides plenty of short runs for the little guys to get the hang of it. Wolf Mountain offers Utah's largest night skiing operation, with specials almost every night that make "The Wolf" one of the most affordable skiing and riding hills in the West.

NORDIC

Utah's snow is legendary among alpine skiers, but skinny skis reap all the benefits of our generous helpings of the white stuff. The local Nordic club, Ogden Nordic, hosts events and is actively involved in sharing their vast knowledge and resources. Hang out on a closed course with their masters team and get coached by some of the best.

NORTH FORK PARK CAMPGROUND

North Fork Park was nominated as a potential venue for the Nordic and biathlon events of the 2002 Winter Olympic games. It's located at the northern end of the Ogden Valley in Liberty. There's a place to park vehicles and begin skiing on the summer roadways. The snow conditions here are very good throughout the winter. All levels of skiing ability can be found in this area, including serious backcountry skiing along the flanks of Ben Lomond Peak.

Length: 12+ miles; groomed daily
 Difficulty: 40% easy, 40% moderate, 20% difficult
 Elevation: 5,500' to 6,000'

PINEVIEW RESERVOIR

Pineview Reservoir is located five miles east of Ogden accessed via Highway 39 (12th Street.) The best skiing is at Anderson Cove Campground when the snow conditions are good. Periodically a Nordic track is prepared that circles through the campground taking advantage of the rolling terrain and summertime roadways. Restrooms are open in the campground but are not maintained on a regular schedule. This area is classified easiest level with generally flat terrain with a few steep sections. Parking is limited at the campground entry roadway near the Host Cabin.

Length: variable
 Difficulty: easy
 Elevation: 4,900' to 4,950'

ART NORD TRAILHEAD

Art Nord Trailhead is found along State Road 226 — what locals call Old Snowbasin Road. During the winter months, the roadway is closed to vehicle traffic past Art Nord. This allows skiing and sledding on the road itself (once the snow depth allows it) and ends at another set of barriers near Snowbasin. Nordic skiers have a few options from this parking area: 1) Head north down Wheeler Canyon following the stream through the deep and shady canyon. 2) Cross the paved highway and follow the East Fork of Wheeler Creek trail ending at either the Snowbasin Road at Green Pond Trailhead or following the Middle Fork Trail back to the Old Snowbasin Road and back to the trailhead. 3) Ascend the main Wheeler Creek trail to end at the parking lot of Snowbasin. All levels of skiing difficulty level can be found in this area. The greatest dangers are in crossing live streams and some avalanche slide paths in Wheeler Canyon. A Nordic trail is groomed occasionally that follows the paved road toward Snowbasin or along the Main Wheeler Creek trail. A snowmachine packs a trail along the East and Middle Fork trails when needed.

Length: 1.8 to 2.5 miles
 Difficulty: 80% moderate, 20% difficult
 Elevation: 5,500' to 6,300'

SNOWBASIN SKI AREA

Snowbasin grooms and maintains 26 km of Nordic trails suitable for both skating and classic-style Nordic skiing. The trails start near the 2nd parking lot, where Nordic trail users may park. There is no charge for Snowbasin's Nordic trails. For starter trails, choose between the Stadium, the Meadows Loop or Maples Loop. Gear and Nordic ski maps are available at Snowbasin.

Length: 1 to 3.6 miles
 Difficulty: 70% easy, 20% moderate, 10% difficult
 Elevation: 5,500' to 6,300'

ATTENTION DOG OWNERS: The impacts from dogs (tracks in the groomed trail or feces left on the trail) have become an issue of concern to both the Forest Service managers and those who groom the trails. We ask that those who take dogs on the groomed trails find ways to prevent or minimize these impacts.

Trails

TAKE A HIKE!

Virtually every inch of the area's 210 miles of maintained trails are open to hikers and trail runners. Some trails are extremely popular with mountain bikers and equestrians. Most of the trails suggested below are ideally suited to hikers and you'll find that you're not sharing the trail with anyone but bipeds. Note that during snowcovered months, Ogden's trail network offers ample opportunity for snowshoeing. Refer to www.weberpathways.org for detailed hiking and biking trail information.

TAYLOR CANYON

From either the top of 27th Street or the 29th Street Trailhead, follow the signs to Taylor Canyon. As you move deeper and higher into Taylor Canyon, the trail will switchback to the west and you'll begin your ascent of Malan's Peak. About halfway up, you'll get a small taste of the view that awaits before switching back to the east for the final push. You'll know when you've arrived at the peak. Soak in the view for awhile before either continuing up the trail into the basin or back down to town.

Length: 1.5 miles, one way
Difficulty: Moderate
Elevation: 4,840' to 6,400'

HIDDEN VALLEY

There's a reason this trail is appropriately named "Hidden Valley." Locals want to keep this trail a secret and often place rocks in front of the inconspicuously painted boulder that serves as a trail marker. Hidden Valley begins with some quick elevation gain to get your heart pumping. The trail winds up through a canyon and the terrain evolves from rocky, rugged trail to pine forest to fern grove to a stunning view of Mt. Ogden and Taylor Canyon.

The trail really gets its name from the flat valley you come into just before the summit. You'll discover that happy moose also enjoy the sweeping view. You can also leave your mark by placing a rock on the Beehive Cairn at the top. After all, the moose need art exhibits too.

Start from the 22nd Street Trailhead and follow the Indian Trail for about one-half mile. Then, at an indistinct fork, turn sharply right and upward. (It's marked by the words "Hidden Valley" painted inconspicuously on a rock.)

Length: 1.4 miles, one way
Difficulty: Difficult
Elevation: 5,080' to 6,760'

how to...

START IT UP

Kaffe Mercantile at 1221 26th Street will get you rolling and in the mood for a day on the trails. Pull up a chair, open up a map and plan your day.

KEEP IT GOING

As varied as the trails in Ogden, so too are the choices for refuelling your body and mind. Choose from Utah's only ceviche bar at Sonora Gill in The Junction to traditional Indian fare at Bombay Grill on Washington Blvd, or anything in between.

WIND IT DOWN

Trail users need to end their day at Roosters Brewing Company and Restaurant on Historic 25th Street.

Owners Pete and Kym Buttschardt are among the most passionate trail users/advocates in town. Chances are, at some point you passed Kym on the trail or hiked a section that Pete built himself. The food is as varied and eclectic as the decor and the handcrafted beer brewed behind the bar is some of the best you'll ever sample.

Hiking

Trails

BEN LOMOND PEAK

Local legend has it that Ben Lomond Peak was the inspiration for the Paramount Pictures logo. Company founder, William Wadsworth Hodkinson, sketched the logo based on memories of the mountains of his youth in Ogden. To reach the summit, start from the trailhead at North Ogden Divide.

The trail switchbacks several times to get you to the ridge, then you hike straight north through conifer forest. The last push to the summit is a bit of a scramble up some loose, steep stuff, but that shouldn't come as a surprise. Have you ever SEEN the Paramount Pictures logo? And the next time you cue up The Godfather, won't it be cool to say to your family and friends, "I've been to the top of that mountain."

Ben Lomond Trail is on an east-facing slope that happens to be one of the wettest in the state, so its wildflower display is unparalleled.

Length: 11.4 miles, one way
Difficulty: Difficult
Elevation: 6,180' to 9,764'

BEUS CANYON TRAIL

Beus Canyon Trail is named for the Beus family, Italian immigrants who came to the area as Mormon pioneers. They were the first to use the creek waters for their farm, and they actually got the receipt for their land from Brigham Young.

The Beus Canyon Trail is probably the best choice for ascending Mt. Ogden from the west side. The trail makes its way up the bottom of the canyon before climbing the ridge to the south. Don't be surprised when high on the ridge you find the trail petering out. The Forest Service and Weber State Recreational Center are working together to improve the trail here. But, in the meantime, follow the rock cairns that will mark the rest of your way to the top.

Access the Beus Canyon trail at the Forest Service Trailhead on 46th Street (furthest east point on 46th) in Ogden.

Length: 5.6 miles, one way
Difficulty: Difficult
Elevation: 5,100' to 9,572'

INDIAN TRAIL/ COLDWATER

Back before the paved highway was cut through Ogden Canyon, Shoshone Indians used this trail to avoid the high waters at the mouth of the canyon. Indian Trail is a moderate hike that ascends through lush evergreens and past stunning geology.

Access Indian Trail from the 22nd Street Trailhead in Ogden or the Cold Water Canyon Trailhead in Ogden Canyon (at the Smokey the Bear sign).

Length: 4.3 miles, one way
Difficulty: Moderate
Elevation: 4,840' to 5,560'

WATERFALL CANYON

This short, but strenuous hike is a rugged scramble over the rocks and through the trees, yet it has long been one of Ogden's most popular hikes thanks to the spectacular 200-foot waterfall at the upper end of the canyon. Please respect the private property on both sides of the trail and don't be tempted to climb the cliffs around the waterfall. It's illegal and several hikers have fallen to their deaths from the treacherous rocks.

Length: 1.2 miles, one way
Difficulty: Difficult
Elevation: 4,760' to 5,800'

Hiking

Malden's Peak Trail

Biking

SINGLE-TRACK MIND

If you check out the various Utah online and printed mountain bike guides, you'll see that the Skyline Trail is considered a "must ride" singletrack for its long, demanding climbs, wildflowers and unbelievable views as you ride the ridge between the Ogden metropolitan area to the west and lush Ogden Valley to the east. However, that 30-mile Olympic-caliber section of trail represents about 10% of what's available to fat tire fanatics in the area.

WHEELER CREEK TO COLDWATER OVERLOOK

Locals hit Wheeler Creek as soon as it opens in the spring. Wedged in a limestone slot canyon at the head of Ogden Canyon (the trailhead is just below Pineview Dam), the trail parallels Wheeler Creek itself on pebbly double track for the first 1.9 miles to the Art Nord Trailhead. From there, Maples Trail offers 3.3 miles of singletrack through grass and wildflower meadows, stands of quaking aspen, oak and maple where you're likely to see moose and deer. Foot bridges have been installed at strategic water crossings and the transitions from the trail to the bridges are typically seamless. The Maples Trail tops out at a connector. Turning south shoots you over to Snowbasin on a short two-track section that connects you into the entire Snowbasin trail system. Turning north sends you on incredibly buffed out singletrack to the Coldwater Overlook. The sustained climb is easier than you think and the resulting view is nothing short of epic. Plus, it comes with the benefit of a velvet-smooth, high-speed descent.

Length: 6.5 miles, one way
Difficulty: Moderate
Elevation: 4,900' to 6,900'

GREEN POND & SNOWBASIN TRAIL SYSTEM

A 20-minute drive from downtown up Trappers Loop to Snowbasin Road puts you at Green Pond trailhead. This endless system of singletrack is rugged, technical and steep, but has more opportunities to open it up than the tight trail systems that are typical of ski resorts. A good portion of the Xterra USA Championships takes place on this trail system, which is a testament to its toughness. Trail maps are available at Snowbasin, but the eenie-meenie-mynie-moe approach at all forks in the trail can be fun, too. Basically, downhill to your car.

Length: varied
Difficulty: Moderate to Difficult
Elevation: 6,300' at trailhead

how to...

START IT UP

Roll through The Daily Rise Espresso at 2865 Washington Blvd. Jeff, Beth and Stephanie are outdoor junkies who develop daily Mountain Man specials to fuel your ride. They even designed their two drive-up windows to accommodate cars with bikes loaded on a roof rack. They're close to Bingham Cyclery- the Specilized concept store, so if you need any last-minute gear, you're set.

KEEP IT GOING

Safe to say, we know our stuff when it comes to ice cream. One of the last family-owned, old-fashioned ice cream parlors is Farr's, on the corner of 22nd and Grant. Try any one of the rich and creamy flavors in a waffle cone or order a sundae topped with thick, hot fudge, nuts and whipped cream.

WIND IT DOWN

If you ride Wheeler Creek, Green Pond, Skyline or the Snowbasin trail system, The Shooting Star in Huntsville is the place for a recovery burger (USA Today ranked it among the best burgers in the country), a pitcher of beer and some pool. It's Utah's oldest saloon and is typically open noon-ish to nine-ish.

SKYLINE TRAIL

As part of the Great Western Trail (stretching from Mexico to Canada), the Skyline Trail has received its share of ink with the out-and-back north section from North Ogden Divide to Ben Lomond Peak achieving the most notoriety. However, the south section has a “no breaks up, no brakes down” 18-mile loop option that every hardcore mountain biker has to do. Begin at the Pineview Trailhead on the west side of Pineview Reservoir (called Windsurfer Beach by locals...don't get confused). Out of the parking lot you'll grind up 5 miles of singletrack steeps. You'll hit a fork where you can opt for another 4 miles of climbing to Lewis Peak or about 3.5 miles to North Ogden Divide. The last mile approaching the Divide is a wicked descent. Very technical, hike-a-bike stuff. At the Divide, descend down the Pioneer Trail into Ogden Valley. This section is an improved wagon road with a recognizable single “best descent” line that dumps you into the community of Spring Mountain. Pedal a chunk of pavement past Snowcrest School and whip into Eats of Eden for a frosty beverage. Then it's a short combination of road, paved trail and singletrack along the edge of the lake back to the trailhead.

Length: 9.5 to trailhead to divide
 Difficulty: Difficult
 Elevation: 4,950' to 7,750'

BONNEVILLE SHORELINE TRAIL — EAST OGDEN BENCH

Ogden's East Bench is home to a spaghetti bowl of singletrack trails. Official trailheads can be found at Rainbow Gardens (at the mouth of Ogden Canyon) and at the tops of 22nd Street, 29th Street and 36th Street. You have endless ride options ranging from 20-mile out-and-backs to short 6-mile loops. Fifteen minutes of pedaling on any piece of the single-track puts you above the city. You'll see wicked sunsets, dip into canyons, cross streams and cling to the edge of ledges. This trail sees most of its action in the spring when wildflowers are popping, the high-country trails are still under a blanket of snow and local mountain bikers are trying to get their legs back. You'll share the trail with other bikers as well as trail runners and their four-legged canine friends.

Length: varied
 Difficulty: Easy to Difficult
 Elevation: 4,400' to 5,680'

BONNEVILLE SHORELINE TRAIL — NORTH SECTION

In theory, the Bonneville Shoreline Trail should be a nice, level bombastic piece of singletrack that is constructed along the visible bench created by ancient Lake Bonneville. However, cliff faces and private land issues have conspired to throw a few ups and downs into the mix. When completed, the trail should be a contiguous hundred-plus mile adventure along the entire length of the east bench of the Wasatch Front. One of the newest sections of the Bonneville Shoreline Trail begins at the Rainbow Trailhead at the mouth of Ogden Canyon. It's not buffed out yet and provides some fun technical sections complete with loose rock, roots and tight spots. A short climb gets you to the shoreline where newly cut singletrack works its way north. At press time, signage is not placed, but is in the works. If you don't mind putting your navigation skills to the test, you'll encounter many interesting canyons along the way.

Length: 5 miles one way
 Difficulty: Moderate to Difficult
 Elevation: 4,400' to 5,900'

OGDEN FREERIDE/ OGDEN PUMP TRACK

If “uber gnar super rad-nasty expert jump zone” is music your ears, the Ogden Freeride Park, located just north of the mouth of Ogden canyon between 9th street and Canyon road, is your kind of place. You will find another excellent riding playground in Ogden Pump Track located at the corner of 20th and Grant.

Cycling

KING OF THE MOUNTAIN

If you're looking to fry your lungs and legs, take Harrison Blvd. North to 3100 North and head over North Ogden Divide. Make the wild descent into Eden and around the east side of Pineview Reservoir to Old Snowbasin Road (State Road 226). This lightly trafficked grind has a couple of false summits but eventually tops out at Snowbasin before descending down Trappers Loop to Mountain Green. Close the loop by shooting Weber Canyon back down to Ogden. Approximately 50 miles.

MORGAN VALLEY DRIVE TO EAST CANYON

Local roadies congregate at Old Farm Market (the Sinclair gas station in Mountain Green) to begin this popular out and back route. Cruise along the frontage road to Peterson and take the underpass under I-84. At the bottom of the hill, you hit Morgan Valley Drive. Stick to Morgan Valley Drive all the way to Porterville where you'll catch State Road 66 and make the climb to East Canyon Reservoir. You can turn around at the dam or add a few more miles around the lake to East Canyon Resort for a Gatorade before making the return trip. Approximately 35-45 miles depending on your turnaround point.

WEST WEBER COUNTY FARM COUNTRY

The western portion of Weber County is primarily rural with lightly trafficked roads perfect for spinning your legs out on flat land. Be warned: long straight roads can suddenly end at a locked farm gate. It's best to map your route out beforehand if you want to avoid excessive backtracking. Check out www.weberpathways.org for detailed biking trail maps.

OGDEN RIVER PARKWAY

Sometimes you don't feel like pushing your big ring in the drops, but you want to turn a crank. That's when you take your cruiser to Rainbow Gardens and jump on the Ogden River Parkway. A paved trail winds along the lush banks of the Ogden River from the Eccles' Dinosaur Park to Fort Bueneventura State Park. Pack a picnic and take advantage of one of the many parks and pavilions along the way.

START IT UP

Got Coffee? If not, get some at "Cafe Ville Bella" at 3979 Harrison Blvd in South Ogden.

KEEP IT GOING

The Bike Shoppe, located at 4390 Washington Blvd., is home to some of Utah's most avid and accomplished cyclists. When Matt, Jesse, Nate and the guys wrench on your bike, you know it's done right. They also carry a comprehensive line of bikes and accessories and can hook you up with local club rides as one of the primary sponsors of the Ogden One Cycling Club.

WIND IT DOWN

Climbing

ONWARD & UPWARD

Rock & Ice magazine ranks Ogden among the top ten climbing towns. We are home to outdoor and indoor climbing adventures for beginning through expert climbers. Our most popular climbing areas are described below. For climbing options sans weather restraints, check out the climbing and bouldering training facilities listed on the next page. Climb safely, responsibly, and courteously.

WILLARD SPIRES

The small town of Willard, just north of Ogden, is the jump-off point for some of the Top of Utah's most spectacular views, some of the West's (arguably) most difficult hiking and an endless supply of lonely, beautiful climbs. Climbers can cling to walls more than 1,000 feet off the deck on parts of London Spire, the crown jewel of the Willard Spires, which guidebook author Dave Robb called "the most rugged place I've ever been."

26TH STREET BOULDERING FIELD

Ogden's east bench of is home to a lifetime of bouldering problems and sequences ranging from V0-V7 or higher. The lower boulder field is located in the area just beyond the top of 25th and 27th Streets; you can see many of the boulders from the road. An upper boulder field is up Taylor's Canyon and to the north, and the Patriot Crack area is up the hill (north) from the lower field. Proceed east up 27th,

Lake or 25th Streets until you reach the end of the street. Parking can be found on the street or on some dirt parking areas; please be considerate to residents and help keep this area available for future use. A short walk upward will lead to the boulders.

9TH STREET CRAG

The 9th Street crag is a popular sport area with easy access and a range of difficulty. The crag is about 40 feet high with several bolted routes all with top rope chains; top rope access can be made from either side of the crag. Keep an eye open for poison ivy. Proceed east on 9th street until you reach the top. Parking is limited; be considerate to residents. Walk up the dirt road until you intersect the canal road and turn left (north). Follow the road north about a hundred yards to the trailhead. The trail works its way up in a north-easterly direction leading to the crag.

ICE CLIMBING

The 1971 first ascent of three-hundred-foot high Malan's Waterfall on the east side of Ogden was a landmark climb in the art of climbing frozen waterfalls. This and many other ice climbs on "farmed" ice are available in Waterfall Canyon Climbing Park in the winter.

Ogden Canyon

iROCK

iRock offers a 55', 2,520 sq. ft. wall of world class indoor rock climbing and bouldering options. Perfectly situated in the Salomon Center, iRock has proper equipment, training and staff available to support a prime climbing experience for groups of all sizes comprised of beginner to hard-core competitive climbers.

OGDEN FRONT CLIMBING

The all-glass atrium of the American Can building is home to Ogden's rock-climbing utopia: The Ogden Front Climbing Club. The Front provides year-round training and recreation support for all levels of experience with 10,000 ft. of bouldering, lead, and top-rope walls.

WEBER ROCKS

Those new to the art of climbing will find the instruction and equipment they need at the Weber Rocks Climbing Wall, which is located in the Swenson Stromberg complex on the Weber State University campus.

Ogden Canyon Narrows

how to... how to...

START IT UP

There is only one place to start a day of paddling around Ogden: The Oaks. Tucked in the shade of Ogden Canyon, several outdoor tables right on the river are the perfect place for one of their signature omelets and owner Keith Rounkles is arguably the most avid paddler in the area. If he's not already out on the water somewhere, he can give you the lowdown on flows.

KEEP IT GOING

One of the best take-outs for the Ogden River also happens to be one of the best places for your lunch break. Rainbow Gardens at the mouth of Ogden Canyon is Utah's largest gift shop and houses The Greenery. Pound down a couple of Mormon Muffins slathered with honey butter before you head back upstream.

WIND IT DOWN

The take-out on the Weber River at Taggart is home to Taggart's Grill. It's the place where paddlers congregate to burn through burgers, beer and boasts of the day's runs.

SHAKE, PADDLE & ROLL

Ogden's abundant whitewater means that even when most stream flows around the west taper off, Ogden still has options to dip your paddle.

OGDEN RIVER

Put-In: Wind your way up Ogden Canyon (12th Street) about a mile until the large pull-off on the north side opposite the Smokey the Bear sign.

Poison Ivy Class IV

A sprinkling of poison ivy on the banks adds to the character of this rapid. Run as far left as possible but if you get pushed off-line you can save yourself from a beating by hugging the cement wall over the drop and riding a small ledge past the hole. At low water the hole has a tongue center-left.

The Waterfall Class III+

The waterfall drop has a beautiful lead-in with a 200 foot waterfall filtering down the river right cliff wall directly into the river. It can be very pushy, with ledge holes on river left at the top and a large pourover boulder at the bottom right. At the very bottom of the rapid there is a fun corkscrewing tongue. Run center-left. The water calms and takes a sharp left turn under the road for a 1/4 mile of easier class II+ down to the narrows.

The Narrows Class III+

In the narrows, the river is constricted between the roadway and a cliff wall on river left. A couple of large boulders in the middle of the run force you to choose between the narrow left slot and the wider right side with a large ledge drop. Both lines hang up wood, so scout this area on the way up.

The Diversion Class III

Below the narrows, the river splits around an island at high water. The right fork has a fun diversion dam drop. Just before the take-out, the river turns sharply to the right and tumbles down some rocky class II+.

Take-Out: Rainbow Gardens, at the mouth of Ogden Canyon.

OGDEN KAYAK RODEO PARK

The Ogden Kayak Park offers an urban park-n-play experience just outside of down- town Ogden. The park offers 150 cfs up to 1000 cfs of good fun. Most boaters play at the first hole then float through the bottom two when it is time to get out.

A bike trail on river left and a bridge just upstream of the first hole provides a good vantage point for onlookers. Fifty yards upstream of the park is a low-head dam or wier that can provide a good popup if one of the gates is open.

During late summer and low water years the park becomes a local hangout and swimming hole. Medium flows make it a great place for beginning and intermediate boaters. High water delivers three fairly intimidating wide holes.

Paddlesports

OGDEN KAYAK RODEO PARK

The Ogden Kayak Park offers an urban park-n-play experience two minutes from downtown Ogden. The park offers good fun from about 150 cfs up to 1000 cfs. The park was built in the year 2000 at the urging and with the help of local kayakers. As the first professionally designed play-park in Utah, it drew attention to the area as a kayaking destination. There is a bike trail on river left and a large viewing deck that provides a good vantage point for onlookers.

WEBER RIVER

The Weber River flows out of the Uinta Mountains and winds through the valleys of Summit County until it makes its final decent to the Great Salt Lake. It's here in the last half of its journey that boaters have enjoyed this hidden playground for many years. There's a seven-mile stretch between Henefer and Taggart Junction that affords boaters of all kinds a whitewater playground. The rapids are not big but there are many and in some areas they are right on top of each other, making the experience quite thrilling.

Put-In: Coming from Ogden, take I-84 east all the way through the Weber canyon and get off at the first Henefer exit. Take a left to go under the freeway, and then take a right. This dirt road parallels the river and there are some large dirt parking areas to the left that make good put-in spots.

Boulder Garden Class II+

The river makes a slight right-hand bend into a mile of class II+ rock dodging. In high water, this section washes out. There always seems to be several large trees in the river, but the current is slow enough that they rarely become a problem. Beginners should be cautious. This is a great section to practice eddy hopping, S-Turns and stern squirts. Swims here often begin when a beginner broaches on one of the large boulders.

Croydon Wave Class II

You soon come to a section with a few large pool-drop rapids that are bigger than anywhere else so far. One of these is the "Croydon Wave." It's a steep wave with eddy service on both sides that can give some fun surf and great eddy play. Below the Croydon wave there are a couple of miles of flat water. Some locals like to take out at Croydon just to skip the flat water.

Slalom Rapid Class II+

Slalom Rapid is made from a series of pillars holding up the freeway. You can run straight down the middle, but beware of a few holes and lots of unnatural junk in there. The pillars pose a serious broaching/wrapping danger.

Taggart Falls Class II+

After a bit of flat water and a few little drops, you'll pass under a railroad bridge and the river swings left heading into Taggart Falls. Taggart Falls is a straight shot down the center-left in some waves, but you can also try your luck on the holes too, which take up the whole right side of the river. At high water they can get pretty nasty. There's a pretty permanent log jam right behind the holes, so a run far right isn't recommended. The take-out is about 200 yards after Taggart Falls and on the right.

Take-Out: Get off at the Taggart exit and turn right; the river is right there and you can park anywhere. Taggart Falls is visible upstream.

RIVERDALE WAVE

Riverdale Wave is the destination of choice by the playboating crowd and is usually best during spring runoff. On sunny spring Saturdays the parking area can see a dozen or more rack-sporting vehicles lined up the street. Hit the wave while it's up. Beginners without a good roll should avoid the Wave during very high flows. However, during medium and low flows, the Wave provides a great introductory wave experience. The slides coming into the Wave are exhilarating for beginners. For intrepid beginners with a guide, the slides make an exciting put-in for the mellow run down to the Ogden Kayak Park.

Fly Fishing

Weber River

TWO RIVERS RUN THROUGH IT

The Ogden area sits at the confluence of two rivers — the Weber and the Ogden. Like most western rivers, head upstream for smaller rainbows, cutthroats and brookies that can be a bit reckless. Aim downstream for bigger, more savvy browns. This is three to five weight country. Know how to read water and make sure your fly box is full because the dense vegetation that lines the streams eats flies as voraciously as the trout.

OGDEN RIVER, SOUTH FORK

The South Fork of the Ogden River flows out of Causey Reservoir through the surrounding hills with large cottonwood stands, and into Pineview Reservoir. Although not a large tailwater by western standards, the South Fork's relatively consistent flows and water temperatures produce excellent hatches and, at times, some rather large trout.

The South Fork of the Ogden is one of the few streams in the state that is home to the famous salmonfly. Although present in other local waters, this insect typically emerges during peak runoff, rendering the hatch unfishable. As a tailwater, however, the South Fork is affected little by runoff, making the salmonfly hatch well worth noting. Types of fish: brown trout, cutthroat trout and hatchery rainbow trout.

OGDEN RIVER

The Ogden River through Ogden Canyon below Pineview Reservoir is pure pocket water. You can usually count on at least one trout behind every rock. That doesn't sound too impressive until you see how many rocks we're talking about here.

Small, olive-colored nymphs work well throughout most of the summer and will net trout during the middle of the day while you wait for the canyon walls to shade things enough to bring off the hatch.

WEBER RIVER

High on the western slope of the Uinta Mountains, the Weber (pronounced Wee-ber) River begins as a small, gin-clear trout stream. As it descends toward the valley, it quickly takes on the characteristics of a classic western freestone fishery, which it remains for most of its fishable length. The Weber is one of the Uinta's larger streams, and its proximity to major population centers makes it a popular fly fishing destination for "after-work" anglers and others short on time.

Watersports

SPLISH SPLASH

This is mountain country so about the only flat thing around here are our lakes and reservoirs. Over 13,000 acres of fresh water lakes are home to warm water fish species including largemouth and smallmouth bass, crappie, perch, bluegill, tiger muskie and walleye. They're also home to such warm water species as boats, personal watercraft, waterskiers, flat water kayakers and wakeboarders.

When these waters freeze over, they're prime destinations for ice fishing.

PINEVIEW

Pineview Reservoir is the busiest reservoir for its size in the state of Utah. You can leave your hotel and be at the water's edge within one-half hour. The scenery around Pineview is worth the visit. Seeing the mountains from the surface of the water is an experience to remember.

Port Ramp Marina

Located on the west shoreline of the reservoir, this is the most used launching facility. The road into the marina has a large Forest Service sign identifying the site immediately across from Highway 158. The facility has a concrete ramp to launch boats and a large paved parking lot. It also has a gravel lot used for overflow parking.

Next to the public docks is a system of plastic docks for long-term storage of boats. The fenced-in lot near the entry station is also for long-term boat storage. A sewage dump station is available next to the public restrooms in the paved parking lot. Use this system to help keep the water clean!

Visit the Forest Service website for the latest information about Pineview Reservoir. www.fs.fed.us

Anderson Cove

Located on the south shoreline of the reservoir, Anderson Cove provides the only overnight camping at Pineview. This recreation complex includes reservable individual and group campsites, a day-use beach, a public use boat ramp and a convenience dock.

Bluffs Marina

Bluffs Marina, also known as Cemetery Point, is located near the town of Huntsville. To access the facility, follow Highway 39 to the eastern side of Huntsville. Follow the signs to the swim beach. Bluffs is at the end of the road through Huntsville.

The marina is the first entryway with a fee station. This marina is fairly simple with a small paved parking area and a larger gravel parking lot.

WILLARD BAY

Boat, swim, waterski and fish on the warm waters of Willard Bay. Camp under tall cottonwood trees that frame the night sky. During winter months, Willard Bay is a wildlife watching area for nesting eagles. Both the North and South Marinas offer all the amenities for a weekend at the Bay.

CAUSEY

Located about 26 miles east of Ogden off Highway 39, Causey is one of the most scenic and beautiful reservoirs in Utah. Nestled in steep valley canyons with sheer vertical walls and heavily forested areas, most of the area has the appearance of remote wilderness.

Boats must be carried to the water at Causey, and once afloat you discover ample opportunities for canoeing, kayaking and fishing. Fish types include multiple varieties of trout, kokanee salmon and splake.

Motorsports

LET IT RIDE

In addition to an abundance of human-powered recreation in the Ogden area, there are many opportunities for adrenaline-fueled motor sports.

Sources for information about motor sports in our area include the Ogden District Office of the Wasatch-Cache National Forest (contact information at www.fs.fed.us/r4/wcnf), the National Forest Service (contact information at www.fs.fed.us) and the Ogden-based headquarters for the national off-road advocacy group, Tread Lightly! Tread Lightly! is an excellent resource for information and ethical guidelines for trail use. Find information on this organization at www.treadlightly.org.

GEAR UP & GO

Red Cliff Ranch Outfitters, located in the Upper Ogden Valley, is a last touch with civilization before you are full throttle into the interlinking trail systems of three snowmobile complexes, which include over 200 miles of groomed trails.

For those who prefer powder, the groomed complexes provide access to thousands of acres of high-mountain bowls. Just be sure to ensure that the area is open to public access.

Whether it's snowmobile or ATV season, you can experience Utah's acclaimed interlinked trail system. In fact, when conditions permit, you can motor along this trail network from the Monte Cristo trailhead (just 9 miles east of Red Cliff) all the way up into Yellowstone.

HARDWARE RANCH

One of our most popular motorsports destinations is Hardware Ranch, where the Utah Division of Wildlife Resources maintains a winter feeding area for a massive herd of Rocky Mountain Elk. The Curtis Creek/Ant Flat trail is a 63-mile loop with something for everyone. The trail is flat and well groomed with generally gentle grades and tremendous views.

ATV

The Monte Cristo trail system is open for ATV riding during most of the year. Be aware of seasonal closures on some of the roads during wet periods.

The most recent Travel Plan and road/trail map for the area is available from the tourist and U.S. Forest information center at Historic Union Station at the west end of 25th Street.

Mt. Ogden Golf Course

HIT THE LINKS

If golf is on your mind then you're in for a treat with quick access to nine golf courses. Due to the number and variety of courses, you'll find it easy to get on and even easier to get around. But don't be fooled by the low green fees at these tracks; you'll be playing on sweetly conditioned courses that provide every level of hacker with a good test. The locals are spoiled, so try to control your laughter when you hear them complain about paying under $25 for a round of golf.

HEART OF THE CITY

Mount Ogden Golf Course

This course is a challenge, but a must-play. Built into the foothills overlooking Ogden, you won't get a better view of the city unless you're hiking one of the dozens of trails that network directly above the course. It's hard to focus on your game with such views, so you won't mind as your score takes a beating with the narrow, scrub oak-lined fairways and tricky greens, which, hint: all break toward the Great Salt Lake.

Where to eat after your round:

Tona - Fresh sushi combinations and a solid menu of Asian fare served in a comfortable and interesting setting. 210 Historic 25th Street, Ogden 801-622-8662

AROUND TOWN

The Barn Golf Club

The Barn is family owned and operated, resulting in a customer-friendly atmosphere with a well-conditioned course that pays attention to the details. This par-71 track measures just a tad bit over 6,000 yards, but don't let the length deceive you. There are plenty of well-placed lakes and mature trees to keep you honest.

Where to eat after your round:

Kirk's Family Drive-In - Milk shakes, fountain sodas and signature burgers. 1974 North 400 East, Ogden 801-782-5350

IN OGDEN VALLEY

Wolf Creek Resort

Do yourself a favor and play Wolf Creek. This resort course provides top-flight service and amenities with playing conditions you'll be impressed by and won't soon forget. Wolf Creek is a mature, well-established championship golf course with a solid reputation.

There is a dress code here so leave your blue jeans, cut-offs, T-shirts and tank tops behind.

Where to eat after your round:

Enjoy Harley & Bucks casual fine dining with panoramic views of the Ogden Valley while you fill up on great American Cuisine. Located in clubhouse, 801-745-2060

Drives

Mount Ogden from Ogden Valley

THE LONG AND WINDING ROAD

All roads lead to somewhere, but if you take the right roads, you stand a better chance of being happy at the end of your journey...and if you just happen to be riding a Harley up Ogden Canyon, then you've just died and gone to heaven. The views surrounding Ogden are impressive and shouldn't be ignored as you rush from slope to trail. Take your time and bathe in all this area has to offer. These scenic drives will put you on the right path to getting the most out of your visit.

Ogden River Scenic Byway

Length: Approximately 40 miles, 1-way

Location: Starting from Ogden's 12th street heading east through Ogden Canyon and then continuing east toward the Wasatch Cache National Forest Boundary.

Drive Time: 45 minutes to 1 1/2 hrs.

Description: This jaunt will take you up Ogden Canyon, which snakes along the Ogden River heading east. As you emerge from the canyon, the Ogden Valley will unfold before you exposing Pineview Reservoir and the nearby lakeside hamlet of Huntsville. Make sure you allow yourself enough time to indulge in one of the great culinary wonders of the new world... a Star Burger from the Shooting Star Saloon in downtown Huntsville. We guarantee you've never had anything like it. Also, check out the stuffed St. Bernard's head on the wall to make this surreal stop complete. As you continue east you'll be on your way to some incredible viewpoints within the Monte Cristo Mountain Range. Roll down your windows and breathe deeply. This is the way air is supposed to smell.

Points of Interest: Eccles Dinosaur Park, Jackson Fork Inn, Ogden River, Pineview Reservoir, Causey Reservoir, Shooting Star Saloon, Trappist Monastery and Monte Cristo Mountain Range, Historic Huntsville Square, Texas Pride BBQ.

Trapper's Loop Road Scenic Backway

Length: Approximately 32 miles round-trip.

Location: Starting from Ogden's 12th street heading east through Ogden Canyon then heading south toward Mountain Green along Highway 167.

Drive Time: 45 minutes.

Description: This journey starts out the same as the Ogden River Scenic Byway.

Make sure you stop at the Oaks Restaurant midway up Ogden Canyon for lunch or a couple scoops of the locals' favorite Farr's Ice Cream. Once you reach the Ogden Valley, head south on Highway 167 and enjoy the climb over what is called Trapper's Loop. The loop takes you over rolling hills and fields and then ascends quickly toward the Snowbasin Ski Resort. This journey offers a great view of the backside of the northern Wasatch Mountain Range, including Mt. Ogden, Strawberry Peak, DeMoisey Peak and the rocky formation called the Needles. Descend to Mountain Green and down Weber Canyon back to Ogden.

Points of Interest: Jackson Fork Inn, Gray Cliff Lodge Restaurant, Pineview Reservoir and Snowbasin Ski Resort.

Parks

Nationally recognized as a Tree City USA for twenty years running, Ogden houses 37 parks within its tree filled boundaries. Parks throughout the city are dedicated to multiple purposes. Whatever your yen, we have shady picnic spots, state-of-the-art playgrounds, meandering pathways and open spaces. For group reservations and a complete listing of parks and park amenities contact:

HEART OF THE CITY

Lorin Farr Swimming Pool,
Skate Park, and Park
1691 Gramercy Ave.
801-629-0696

Open to the public, the Olympic-size Lorin Farr Swimming Pool is an excellent place to cool off in the summer months. Relax and swim, then take a toboggan sled ride down the 72-foot rampage water slide.

Located behind the Lorin Farr Swimming Pool and free to the public, the Lorin Farr skate park offers 12,800 square feet of ramps and hills to challenge every skater from beginner to expert.

Marquart Park/Mount Ogden Park
3240 Taylor Ave./3084 Taylor Ave.

These adjacent parks offer separate parking lots and can be reserved separately. Large grassy areas and a shady walking trail connect them. Both offer a large group picnic area and many individual picnic spots. You can picnic by the playground, along the winding stream, near the restroom and water facilities, or choose one of several strategically placed picnic tables.

Municipal Gardens

Historic 25th Street and Grant Ave.

An open air plaza featuring flowering beds, trees and picnic areas, Ogden's Municipal Gardens hosts events and activities year-round. Depending on the time of day and the season, the plaza hosts weekend farmers' markets, weekly concerts, plays and movie screenings.

During the holiday season, Municipal Garden's five acres are aglow with an elaborate Christmas Village. Miniature buildings, which showcase both whimsical and historical scenes, line the walkways. Live performances keep the open air amphitheatre hopping nightly. Even Santa makes a nightly appearance.

AROUND TOWN

Beus Pond Park/Forest Green Park
4240 Country Hills Dr./4202 Taylor Ave.

These adjacent parks offer relaxation at every turn. Walk the extensive and shaded trail system, relax on a bench and watch geese, ducks and other birds.

Enjoy lunch in the covered picnic area, then cross the stream to watch the kids enjoy the playground. There's also an open grassy area for field games.

Big D Sports Park
1396 Park Blvd.

Situated at the mouth of the canyon beside the Ogden River, this park offers a covered picnic area, a playground, a walking trail and a large open grassy area. Restrooms, drinking water and a large barbeque grill are available. The Ogden River Parkway connects Big D Sports Park to the MTC Learning Park.

MTC Learning Park
1750 Monroe Blvd.

A Utah State University Botanical Garden, the MTC Learning Park presents a variety of indigenous plants and wildflowers. Stop in at the small visitor center for information on the flora and fauna of the area, then meander along one of the many walking trails that make up the Ogden River Parkway.

A BUSTLING METROPOLITAN AREA

The first transcontinental railroad in the United States was ceremoniously completed on May 10, 1869. Ogden's Union Station was the heart of a successful bid to become the primary junction for the railway. Union Station welcomed the world into Ogden for over 50 years, and Historic 25th Street rolled out before it like a red carpet.

Many travelers entered to do business, dine, catch up on local and national news and enjoy upscale shopping. Others came to frequent the houses of ill repute, gamble, trade off ill-gotten gains, drink and brawl at the lively saloons. One could witness gambling, prostitution, narcotics sales, robbery and other bootlegger activities on 25th Street.

WITH A DIVERSE HISTORY

Conservative, devout and God-fearing Mormon pioneers originally settled most Utah communities. Our area traces its beginnings to fur trader Miles Goodyear, who established the trading post, Fort Buenaventura, in 1844. The town settled down for a bit following purchase of the fort by Mormon pioneers in 1847.

Then, completion of the railroad in 1869 initiated long-standing political battles, invited successful and failed capital ventures and charged the city with on-going controversy. For a time, Ogden was a rough city, and 25th Street was the roughest part of all.

AND A PROMISING FUTURE

Ogden's Renaissance began in the 1950s when Mayor Lorin Farr initiated efforts for a citywide cleanup. In the 1980s, economic reinvestment in the downtown area revitalized the fierce, independent, entrepreneurial heart of Ogden. Visionary and progressive business owners reopened shop along Historic 25th Street. Land developers built residences. Historic 25th Street has once again emerged as a vital economic and cultural center with a promising future.

For stories of bustling commerce, economic development and society highlights visit one of our many local historical attractions. For stories of underground tunnels, brawls and rowdy adventures visit with Historic 25th Street shopkeepers, examine suspect alleyways or stop in for a haircut from Willie at Moore's Barbershop.

HISTORIC ATTRACTIONS

Experience Ogden's rich and diverse development through a myriad of historic attractions. Explore the craft and survival skill required of the rugged mountain man and 1800s pioneer; view the development and expansion of military aircraft, missiles and aerospace vehicles; practice the peaceful and contemplative existence of a current day monk.

Historic Union Station

Alive with the movement of train passengers, service men and railway workers for over 50 years, the Historic Union Station still reverberates with historical significance. The grand old depot houses museums and galleries featuring railroad history, firearms, classic cars and the arts, as well as a restaurant, model train shop and a variety of meeting rooms.

Fort Buenaventura

Located just west of the city center, Fort Buenaventura was stomping grounds to the original outdoorsman—the mountain man. True trailblazers, mountain men were a strong, independent and rugged breed who traded with the Native American tribes, married tribal women, trapped the rivers for beaver and lived off the land. They rendezvoused annually at Fort Buenaventura trading furs for supplies, eating, drinking, swapping stories and demonstrating their skills.

A replica fort including three cabins, true to every documented detail, has been reconstructed on the original site of the fort that was built in 1845 by Miles Goodyear and his wife. Original artifacts are also displayed. Facilities at the fort include picnic areas, a canoeing pond, restrooms and a trading post. The trading post is open year round on Saturdays. Other facilities, including camping and canoeing, are open from Easter to Thanksgiving. Step back in time every Easter weekend at the Rendezvous.

Huntsville Trappist Monastery

The Trappist monks, belonging to the Order of the Cistercian of the Strict Observance, came to Ogden Valley in 1947 and established a monastic community dedicated to "an austere and simple life of prayer and manual labor inspired by the gospel of Jesus Christ." They tend colonies of bees and raise approximately 300 Hereford beef cattle. The reception room and church services (Mass and Vespers) are open to the public. For men who wish to spend a day or two in solitude and recollection, the monastery operates a retreat house. This is open to anyone over age twenty, Catholic or not.

Shopping

BROWSE, SELECT, BUY! BUY! BUY!

Like any metropolitan area, Ogden is home to several brand name stores. Should the need arise, you'll find the familiar and more than the necessities around town. Newgate Mall houses 85+ shopping stops. An assortment of big box stores are just south of the Mall along Riverdale Road.

Head downtown for a more eclectic shopping experience. Historic 25th Street is lined with independently-owned shops of every variety.

HEART OF THE CITY

Take a stroll down Historic 25th Street for daytime shopping. The shopping opportunities are a discriminating mix of antique shops, boutiques and specialty stores, with owner/shopkeepers manning the register. Chat with one or more local artists as you browse extensive original fine art collections displayed and sold at one of the art galleries within the district. (See the Art Section of this guidebook for more on our art galleries.)

Wander on over or jump on the Ogden Trolley (Monday - Saturday) to take you from Historic 25th Street to the shops located along Washington Boulevard and in the Junction. This is the place to stock up on the apparel and gear you'll need to take advantage of Ogden's recreational offerings.

AROUND TOWN

Our local newspaper, the Standard Examiner, recently named the Newgate Mall as the #1 shopping center in Northern Utah. The Mall houses 85+ shops, a movie theater and an indoor children's play area. Most of your tried and true favorites are here. North Ogden is home to unique stores like Smith & Edwards — a one-stop sporting goods and western supply store that originally found their niche in military surplus. Take a minute to eyeball 60 acres of military white elephants, then head inside to grab whatever gear you need.

IN OGDEN VALLEY

You need a couple of hours to take in everything there is to consider at Rainbow Gardens at the mouth of Ogden Canyon. It's a gift emporium in the fullest sense. The place is jam packed with collectibles, novelties and oddities. Visit Planet Rainbow for a one-of-a-kind selection of Olympic memorabilia and authentic Utah gifts. Take a step back in time at The Village at Huntsville square in Huntsville, where a variety of shops occupy refurbished historic buildings.

Entertainment

SALOMON CENTER

As a key component to Ogden's rejuvenation, the Salomon Center wonderfully echos Ogden's high adventure position. Men's Journal recognized it as one of the world's top ten man-made adventures, with good reason. The Salomon Center houses numerous adventure options for both eager participants and easy-going spectators.

IFLY

One of only a dozen wind tunnels currently operational in the world, iFly offers the best possible flight experience for indoor skydiving. The iFly wind tunnel uses superior technology to deliver a unique flying experience. The air flow is totally controllable; this, combined with professional instructors, makes for the most exciting flight experience possible in a wind tunnel.

FLOWRIDER

The Flowrider offers the excitement and thrill of catching a wave to boogie boarders and surfers of any skill level. Whether you're looking to hone your skills or experience your first carve, thousands of gallons of jet-powered water deliver a smooth and satisfying ride. Even if you don't want to jump in and give it a try, it's worth stopping by to watch.

IROCK

The Salomon Center also houses iRock, a 17-person climbing wall; Golds Gym, a top-of-the-line fitness center; Fat Cats, a bowling alley and arcade, mini golf, billiards, three restaurants and a sports bar.

Entertainment

TREEHOUSE CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

A treasure for families with children, Treehouse Museum offers award-winning literacy-based exhibits and programs. Step into stories from Japan, a tale of King Arthur, a story about our nation and its founders or Utah's native tribes. Daily family programs include stories, songs, theater and art workshops.

GEORGE S. ECCLES DINOSAUR PARK AND MUSEUM

More than 100 full-size dinosaur sculptures, based on actual skeletons, fill this prehistoric park. Robotics, artistic details and an amazing sound system bring it all to life. The Elizabeth Dee Shaw Museum within the park grounds houses many displays and hands-on activities.

OGDEN NATURE CENTER

A wildlife sanctuary and education center, the Ogden Nature Center provides a place where wildlife can find refuge from urban development and people can go to observe and enjoy nature. See www.ogdennaturecenter.org for calendar of events and information.

MEGAPLEX 13

If the Junction's Megaplex 13 were just another movie theater, we probably wouldn't bother mentioning it here. However, with a full-service food court offering a wide variety of grub and specially designed trays so you can eat during your flick, it warrants a look. With 13 screens (hence the catchy name), you'll almost always find something you want to see.

TAKE A LOOK

Ogden is home to more than 20 fully functioning art galleries, which display primarily original works of art. We are home to symphony, light opera, live theater and musicals, dance and ballet performances. The venues for the performances are as much a treat as the shows. Whether you're in the market for a specific media, or just looking to feed the soul, prepare for a feast.

IT'S EVERYWHERE

Local businesses like Grounds for Coffee display local artwork as part of their business plans. A monthly art stroll, held the first Friday of each month, begins and ends with Gallery at the Station and the Eccles Community Art Center. In addition, as part of Ogden's Public Art Master Plan, diverse works of art can be enjoyed throughout the city. Refer to www.ogdencity.com for a complete listing of Ogden's Public Art galleries.

IN EVERY FORM

Ogden's Weber State University regularly schedules live theater, music and dance performances. Ballet West, Utah Opera Company and the Utah Symphony often perform in Ogden on the Weber State campus, or in the historic Egyptian Theater. Terrace Plaza Playhouse is a quaint community theater with a reputation for quality, live theater. For a current listing of available performances, go to www.weberarts.org.

Spas & Fitness

INDULGE

After a hard day of boarding, riding, climbing or paddling, you should show your body that you care. Take time for an invigorating massage, a pampering body treatment or a rejuvenating facial. Our local spas offer a full menu of relaxing services.

ROUND IT OUT

After blasting your quads on the mountain, the perfect counterbalance might be a few asanas at the yoga studio or a few laps in the club pool. Ogden has many fitness studios/clubs where you can round out the perfect vacation day.

THE BEST AROUND

Don't be fooled by Ogden's laid back lifestyle; we take dining seriously. Whether you're craving steak and potatoes or fresh sushi, expect to experience excellent food, friendly and attentive service and minimal wait time. The national chains with a franchise in the Ogden area meet and exceed their corporate standards. In addition, our exceptional and locally owned establishments are sure to please. In most local joints, you will find loyal diners who come in regularly for the food, the local vibe and the conversation.

HEART OF THE CITY

Craving fresh and light cuisine, served in an eclectic, artistic environment? Head to the heart of the city. The 26 unique and exceptional brews at Roosters, are doubly enhanced by their superb menu offerings. Sonora Grill serves regional Mexican cuisine in a refined atmosphere. Tona was voted one of the top 10 ski town sushi restaurants by SKI Magazine. Steak and potato eaters can find an excellent cut of meat at the Prairie Schooner.

AROUND TOWN

Hankering for consistently good food from a familiar menu? You'll find most of your favorite national chains on Riverdale Road. The Gateway Center at the Ogden airport is home to Rickenbackers. In addition to an excellently prepared American menu, you can take in an amazing view of the Wasatch range. Zucca offers authentic Italian Regional Cuisine with a modern approach. Maple Gardens hasn't changed their menu in 25 years of business. No need, the food is always great. Szechwan chicken has been the #1 menu choice for over a decade.

IN OGDEN VALLEY

Leaving town doesn't leave you without dining options. There are plenty of great places to eat in Ogden Valley. Timbermine Steakhouse at the mouth of the canyon serves up a great slab of beef in a charming mining town setting, Gray Cliff Lodge specializes in fresh trout and homemade cinnamon rolls. Alpine Pizza offers both standard and specialty pies. Texas Pride Barbecue offers the best Texas Style Barbecue in the mountain west. Carlos and Harleys serves up great mexican food. Harley and Bucks offers incredible food and views. The Oaks has great food in a breathtaking setting.

ESSENTIAL BREWS

When looking for a relaxing place to sit with friends and chat, a decent coffee house is a must. Ogden has an array of coffee/espresso houses in all parts of the community. You can get your ordinary cup of joe, as well as those that elicit poetry from a true coffee connoisseur. The latte, cappuccino or the fresh brewed French Roast as dark and rich as can be made come teamed with a thriving coffee house culture throughout the city.

Camping

Wasatch Mountain Range, view from Trapper's Loop Road

ROUGHING IT

There are a number of excellent campgrounds located within the Ogden City and Ogden Valley areas. Whether you have an RV, trailer or tent, you'll find campground amenities suited to your needs. They'll offer just enough to provide comfort but still allow you to feel like you're being rugged in our great outdoors.

Most of the sites are located adjacent to Pineview Reservoir and along the South Fork of the Ogden River so be sure to bring your fishing gear. If a fat rainbow or brown trout eludes you, you're not far from some great dining options. Harley & Bucks for steak or Texas Pride for some barbeque are good choices in downtown Huntsville. The Jackson Fork Inn is a great place for a hearty meal and make sure you leave some room for a piece of mud pie.

Visit www.recreation.gov to make reservations at any of the camp sites listed on the following page. Or call: 877-444-6777.

Conference Center

PLACE TO GATHER

Located in the heart of historic downtown Ogden, Ogden Eccles Conference Center is the outcome of the marriage of two adjacent facilities: David Eccles Conference Center and Peery's Egyptian Theater. Ogden Eccles Conference Center offers a remarkably diverse and flexible gathering space, along with convenient access to hotels and many local points of interest.

ENTERTAINMENT

The David Eccles Conference Center offers two levels of spacious gathering options perfect for meetings and social gatherings of any size. Its magnificent windowed walls create bright daylight-filled hallways while revealing breathtaking mountain views.

Peery's Egyptian Theater is a multi-use theatrical venue. Originally built as a movie palace in 1924 by Harmon and Lewis Peery, the dilapidated theater was nearly torn down in the 1980's. Restored to its original luster with the addition of a full theatrical stage and dressing rooms, it reopened in 1997 as part of the Ogden Eccles Conference Center. Peery's Egyptian Theater is one of an esteemed three Egyptian-style movie palace theaters in the Northwest United States. With the completion of the restoration of the Mighty Wurlitzer Pipe Organ in 2004 the "Showplace of the West" is now restored to its original grandeur.

Golden Spike

GOLDEN SPIKE EVENT CENTER

The variety of events staged at the Golden Spike Event Center is wide ranging enough to ensure that almost everyone has an interest (or passion) played out here. Golden Spike hosts everything from antique shows, food festivals and horse events to wrestling and the largest county fair in Utah, the Weber County Fair.

This multi-use facility spans over 150 outdoor acres and 149,250 sq. ft. of indoor space. It includes two exhibit halls, two indoor arenas, an auction arena/barn, 397 permanent-covered stalls, and a 3/4 mile covered grandstand oval race track, a championship equestrian cross country course, seven soccer fields, a lighted softball quadruplex, two regulation basketball courts, three regulation volleyball courts, a covered picnic pavilion, and a new outdoor stadium.

For a schedule of events at the Golden Spike Event Center or additional information on the facility, call toll-free 1-800-44-ARENA or visit their web site at: www.goldenspikeeventcenter.com.

Weber State University Stadium

Val A. Browning Center, Brian Griffin

BIG SKY COUNTRY

Repeat after me, Wee-ber. Pronounce it Webb-er and you'll be instantly pegged as an uninformed outsider. Ogden is not a college town, but we are proud of our University as it's a major cultural center for our area.

OUTDOOR RECREATION

WSU students hit the hills, rivers and lakes for recreation—the same stuff you'll come to Ogden to experience—rock climbing, back-packing, skiing, whatever they can fit in between classes. To facilitate its students' passions, WSU operates its Outdoor Program and packs it with quality gear from skis, snowboards and snowshoes to kayaks, climbing gear and camping supplies all at affordable rates for students and the rest of us. You can also sign up for personal instruction, group clinics, or guided adventures to help you tweak your skills.

To get more information on the Weber State University Outdoor Program call 801-626-6373 or visit www.weber.edu/outdoor.

SPORTS

WSU's 13 varsity teams currently compete in the Big Sky Conference. WSU has excellent facilities for spectators. The Stewart Stadium seats 17,000 for football and track events. The Dee Events Center, or as locals affectionately call it the 'Purple Palace', has hosted several opening rounds of the NCAA Basketball Tournament and is a great place to catch a wildcat basketball game. The Dee Events Center also hosts a number of concerts and other large events throughout the year. Visit www.weber.edu/athletics for team schedules and sporting events.

ARTS

The University is a major contributor to Ogden's Arts community. The Val A. Browning Center for the Performing Arts features ongoing professional and student based performance art. Weber's annual storytelling festival attracts national and local talent. You'll find film series, jazz concerts, poetry readings and more on campus. Visit: www.weber.edu/wsutoday for a listing of campus based events.

Ogden Marathon

BREATHTAKING

May brings Utah's Spring Run-Off in more ways than one. The annual Zions Bank Ogden Marathon is typically organized around the third week in May. In addition to the full 26.2-mile marathon option, organizers have races of varying distances laid out on the incredibly beautiful course — a marathon relay, a half-marathon, 5k and Kids' K.

With the bulk of the course profile being a gentle downhill, this Boston Marathon qualifier is a favorite among runners of all ability levels and was recognized by Runners World as a "Top Marathon to be your first."

Generally, the race begins 26.2 miles east of Ogden and parallels virtually all of the South Fork, skirts Pineview Reservoir and rejoins the Ogden River down the beautiful canyon to eventually end in the heart of Ogden's historic district.

More information is available online. Visit www.ogdenmarathon.com.

Xterra

USA CHAMPIONSHIPS

After hosting several years of Xterra Mountain Championships, the Xterra USA Championship made Ogden and Snowbasin its home in 2009. An international field of elite off-road triathletes converge in Ogden for what many claim is the best race on the Xterra circuit outside of the World Championships in Maui.

The race is typically the end of September and includes clinics by the pros, events for kids, live music and festivals.

At the conclusion of the inaugural race, World Champion, Melanie McQuaid proclaimed the area as "the next Mecca for endurance sports."

If you want to put yourself to the test, the Xterra USA Championships also offers locals and visitors the option to participate in the full Xterra distance race (1500-meter swim, 30K mountain bike, 10k trail run) or a "Sport" distance course (roughly half the distance).

USA CHAMPIONSHIP

Harvest Moon

HARVEST MOON

Each September the Historic 25th Street businesses open their hearts and doors to celebrate the end of summer and embrace the fall season. Guests are treated to quality family activities for every age, gourmet food and beverage and chic shopping on Historic 25th Street.

The street is upbeat with the sounds of live music all day and the kids even have the chance to race around the street on the exciting Criterium bike race course.

Athletes also come out in force to partake in the "games" portion of the event. Adults and kids enjoy the heart pounding action as cyclists, kayakers, mountain bikers and trail runners come off the mountain and converge on Historic 25th Street.

KAYAK RODEO

While most of the rivers throughout the western United States dwindle to a mere trickle in September, Ogden secures a late-season water release from Pineview Reservoir to raise levels in the Ogden River to near spring run-off conditions. In time-trial fashion, waves of four paddlers make a wild descent in a winner-take-all race.

TRAIL RUN

The trail network on the east bench is the start line of a 7-plus mile trail run that finishes in the middle of the downtown party.

CRITERIUM

Cyclists from around the region shave their legs one last time to race for one of the final prize purses of the Utah cycling season at the Harvest Moon Criterium.

For more information visit www.historic25.com.

Winter Dew Tour

BRING IT

In February, Snowbasin Resort is the venue of choice for the finals in the Winter Dew Tour also known as "The Toyota Championships." The tour draws top athletes from around the world who compete for the coveted Dew Cup in each of the six winter action sports disciplines (Men SNB Superpipe, Women SNB Superpipe, Men SNB Slopestyle, Women SNB Slopestyle, Freeski Superpipe, Freeski Slopestyle).

Join the crowd that gathers to enjoy the competition, a live concert featuring top artists, and a huge Festival Village replete with video gaming, product demos, athlete autograph signings, and more. The Dew Tour boasts the largest media platform in all of winter action sports.

HOST IT

In honor of the tour, Snowbasin builds a 22-foot Superpipe to provide spectacular displays of skill and intestinal fortitude. The superpipe, slope-style events, and all other associated activities with the Winter Dew Tour Toyota Championships are free to attend. Guests enjoy access to the Festival Village, competition viewing, and more. The Winter Dew Tour also brings a free concert on Historic 25th Street in Downtown Ogden.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

Ogden is home to the Hot Rock'n 4th Independence Day celebration—a true old-fashioned, down-home party with kids playing at the park and everyday heroes taking center stage. Featured events include live entertainment, rides, a Monster Truck and Rock Crawling exhibition, a super-sized demolition derby, a classic car show and, of course, a spectacular fireworks display exploded in choreographed precision to inspiring music. In partnership with Ogden City, the American Dream Foundation coordinates most of the day's events, and all proceeds go to charity. See www.hotrockn4th.com for additional information and other attractions.

PIONEER DAYS

A history lesson: July 24, 1847, Mormon pioneers arrived in the Salt Lake Valley. They had hoofed it across 1,300 miles of wilderness in search of religious freedom. By 1869, nearly 70,000 members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (commonly called Mormons) had come to call Utah their home. A good number of them had settled in Ogden.

Pioneer Day, July 24th, is an official state holiday. Virtually every community across Utah commemorates the day and Ogden's party is among the biggest. The city's week-long celebration includes fireworks, parades, live music and, of course, plenty of rodeo.

Between the abundance of festivities and stock provided by one of the nation's top contractors, Ogden's Pioneer Days Rodeo has become one of the premier rodeos on the pro rodeo circuit. Last year's rodeo attracted over 20 National Finals Rodeo qualifying cowboys including four world champions.

For a full Pioneer Days schedule of events visit www.ogdenpioneerdays.com.

Thanks for poking around this guidebook. Hopefully, it makes you want to poke around Ogden. Obviously, you'll be welcomed.

If you want to stay that way, you should understand how we operate.

When you roll into town, an account is opened for you in the Karma bank.

Make as many deposits as you like.

Make as few withdrawals as possible.

We don't poach a guy's powder shot. If someone is standing there scoping out their line, don't jump in. We don't snowshoe on groomed Nordic trails.

On the trail, we all yield to horses. Bikes yield to hikers.

Usually hikers will step aside for bikes even though they don't have to.

When they do, mountain bikers say thanks.

We carry out more than we carry in.

We respect leash laws, private property and access areas.

We yield to pedestrians in crosswalks....except for the boneheads who don't.

Watch out for them.

Enjoy
